Drawings

The drawings are objected to because in Figure 4, the reference numeral "85" has been used twice to designate both the insulation and the groove-like receptacle. Correction is required.

Applicant is required to submit a proposed drawing correction in reply to this Office action. However, formal correction of the noted defect may be deferred until after the examiner has considered the proposed drawing correction. Failure to timely submit the proposed drawing correction will result in the abandonment of the application.

Specification

On page 14, line 18, "holding element 63 faces the edge" should be changed to --holding element 61 faces the edge-- in order to agree with what has been shown in the drawing. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. With respect to claim 1, it is unclear what is being claimed with recitation of the couple being "thermally uncoupling" from the edge portion, lines 11-12. In particular, how can a plastic coupling performs "thermally uncoupling".

Art Unit: 3634

With respect to claim 3, it is unclear what constitutes "liquid-tight manner" because it has not yet been defined. Claim 7 fails to claim a door seal because the recitation of "to be connected" alludes to the merit of purposes. With respect to claim 12, it is unclear to what constitutes "a special-steel blank".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 7-10, and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pasqualini et al. Pasqualini et al. disclosed a refrigerator door comprising: a sheet steel metal refrigerator door having foamed insulation (not shown, see column 1, lines 50-55), a free edge portion (17) on the outer panel, an edge portion (16) on the inner panel, a plastic fastener (1) with at least one receiving receptacle/groove (20) disposed between the free edge and edge portions, and a door seal (11) connects to an opening (7) on the plastic fastener. See Figure 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over H. G. Beck ('009) in view of Gerritsen Beck ('009) disclosed a refrigerator door comprising a continuous length sheet steel metallic refrigerator door, see column 3, lines 31-33 and 43-51, having insulation (10), a free edge portion (6) on the outer panel, an edge portion (7) on the inner panel, a rubber plastic fastener (1) with receiving receptacles/grooves (2) connect between the free edge and edge portions, and a door seal (9) connects to an opening (3) on the rubber plastic fastener. See Figures 1-5. Gerritsen teaches a refrigerator door that is foam (84) insulated. See Figure 4. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to substitute the insulation of Beck ('009) with the insulation of foam as taught by Gerritsen in order to have a better insulation door since the polyurethane foam is capable of expanding and fill in the receiving grooves thus reducing amount of air spaces in the door.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Yingst et al., Sasaki et al., A. Monti, Kiel, D. F. Reahard et al., Horvay et al., Lindenschmidt, Heaney, and McAlarney, are cited to show devices having similar configurations of design.

If the applicant is submitted by facsimile transmission, applicant is hereby reminded that the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity (37 CFR 1.4 and M.P.E.P. 502.02). In general, most responses and/or amendments not requiring a fee, as well as those requiring a fee but charging such fee to a deposit account, can be submitted by facsimile transmission. Responses requiring a fee which applicant is paying by check should not be submitting by facsimile transmission separately from the check. Responses submitted by facsimile transmission should include a Certificate of Transmission (M.P.E.P 512). The following is an example of the format the certification might take:

Furthermore, please do not separately mail the original or another copy unless required by the Patent and Trademark Office. Submission of the original response or a follow-up copy of the response after your response has been transmitted by facsimile will only cause further unnecessary delays in the processing of your application; duplicate responses where fees are charged to a deposit account may result in those fees being charged twice.
